

LIBRARY SUBJECT GUIDE – PSYCHOLOGY

This subject guide consists of a list of selected resources on psychology available in the Catawba Valley Community College Library and on the Internet. Some of the resources listed may also be found in other libraries. Therefore, students may choose to use this guide in their library of choice.

Journals

The CVCC Library maintains a leisure reading area with a collection of popular magazines, newspapers and scholarly journals. Specifically, Library holdings include the following psychology related periodicals:

American Journal of Psychology	Paper: 2006-2009 (Current)
Current Directions in Psychological Science	Paper: 2005-2006
Health Psychology	Paper: 2004-2005
Perspectives on Psychological Sciences	Paper: 2006

Article Databases

Many journals are also available via NC LIVE. Please utilize the CVCC Library staff for assistance in locating journal articles in NC LIVE.

NC LIVE provides North Carolina residents and students with access to high quality information – searchable collections of magazine, newspaper, and journal articles, electronic books, historical materials, maps, and much more – covering a wide range of topics (North Carolina Libraries for Virtual Education, 2009). PsycINFO, a database available via NC LIVE, contains more than two million citations and summaries of scholarly journal articles, book chapters, books, and dissertations, all in psychology and related disciplines. The database also includes information about the psychological aspects of related fields such as medicine, psychiatry, nursing, sociology, education, pharmacology, physiology, linguistics, anthropology, business, law and others (North Carolina Libraries for Virtual Education, 2009). Journal coverage in PsycINFO spans 1887 to present and includes international material selected from nearly 2,000 periodicals in more than 25 languages (North Carolina Libraries for Virtual Education, 2009).

Internet Resources

The Internet contains a vast amount of scholarly information on the topic of psychology. However, information found on the Internet is not always reliable. Students will need to use Internet evaluation guidelines when determining the most appropriate sources to use for scholarly research. As with all research, students will need to use their critical thinking skills to determine the quality of the material.

Below is a brief list of examples of psychology resources available on the Internet:

American Psychological Association

Encyclopedia of Psychology

PsychWeb

Social Psychology Network

Classics in the History of Psychology

Psychology Virtual Library

Internet Mental Health

AllPsych Online: The Virtual Psychology Classroom.

Books

Psychology books are available in the “BF” section of the Circulating and Reference Collections. However, psychology is an interdisciplinary subject, and students may commonly need to use other sections (e.g. Nursing (R), Education (LB), or Criminal Justice (HV)).

Books are listed in the library catalog which may be searched online in the Library or via the Library’s homepage at <<http://www.cvcc.edu/Resources/Library/>>.

The CVCC Library also provides electronic access to a number of psychology books. These e-books are listed in NC LIVE at <<http://www.nclive.org/>>. Please see library staff for assistance in using NC LIVE. Library patrons accessing NC LIVE off campus must use a password available from the CVCC Library circulation desk or by phone at extension 4229.

The following list represents materials available in the CVCC collections. The list includes books and audiovisual materials. Items are divided into major subject areas used within the field of psychology.
